CHRIS REASONER
Senior Director
Construction Services

As senior director of construction services, Chris Reasoner supports the quality environments provided by Hunt Midwest in SubTropolis, the world's largest underground business complex, as well as other industrial projects outside of SubTropolis. Chris works with contractors, design professionals and tenants to plan and construct everything from tenant improvements to large new construction ventures.

Chris has more than 19 years of construction and facilities management experience, managing over $250 million in construction projects.

Chris is a graduate of MidAmerica Nazarene University with a bachelor's degree in management and human relations. He and his family currently reside in Lawrence, Kansas.
