MICHAEL KNIGHT
General Manager of Shared Construction Services
Hunt Midwest Real Estate Development, Inc.

As general manager of shared construction services, Michael works closely with the commercial, residential and new business development divisions to provide conceptual estimating and design oversight on new potential multifamily, senior housing and industrial development projects. Michael coordinates the efforts of outside consultants, handles estimating, reviews general contractor bids, negotiates contracts and ensures that projects are built to the approved specs on time and within budget.

Michael has 18 years of construction experience with Straub Construction, where for the past nine years he held the role of vice president of pre-construction services.

Michael holds a BS in construction science and management from Kansas State University. He lives with his family in Olathe, Kansas.
